Thanksgiving tomorrow and all places of business closed.

Thanksgiving is a time for giving thanks. There is no better way of giving thanks than by helping others. There are no others more deserving of help than the orphans. The contributions that are being asked for the various orphanages of the state should be forthcoming. Times are never too hard for helping on the good work of making for better citizens in the coming years. That is the work of the orphanages and in this work there should be the hearty co-operation of the people throughout the state. If there are any in this section who think that the crops have not been such this year as to make this a time of Thanksgiving, they should remember that even with them the crops are far better than they are with their neighbors not a hundred miles away in their own state. Then too, things are never so bad that they might not be worse and this of itself should be the occasion of thanksgiving to everyone, in whose heart is embedded gratitude to the giver of every good and perfect gift for every blessing that comes to them.

It was not our good fortune to have more than a passing acquaintance with Paul M. Brice, who passed away at the home of his father here last Wednesday morning. His close editorial work necessitated his being continuously at his post, and so he was best known to those whose work was along with him in Columbia, where most of his work was done. We never heard him spoken of in any other way than of the deepest appreciation on the part of those who knew him best. We regret that we did not have the privilege of coming under the spell of his own remarkable personality, especially since we know from his co-laborers what a brother he was to them. The tributes that have been paid him by his newspaper friends throughout the state have been of the very highest order and it is an honor to the town of Winnsboro to have produced one who by his personal character has won such a strong coterie of friends among his newspaper workers and who has stood for such high journalism in his long career as a newspaper man. His friends testify that there was nothing little in him and this statement is most forcibly sustained by his editorial writings and in all his correspondence. Impartiality and fairness were the key notes to his success in his chosen field. More, he had a pen from which flowed the purest of English and there was a charm about his style that was exceedingly taking and attractive. No editor in South Carolina writes better English and had a more fascinating way of putting what he had to say than the late editor of the Columbia Record. That he possessed physical courage in the highest and largest measure is most fully attested in the heroic fight that he put up for life and the way he continued to work despite the fact that he knew the end was so rapidly approaching. A less heroic man would have given up long since. Death took a true hero when it claimed Paul Brice.

Rev. Smith of Branchville preached an excellent sermon at Little River on last Sunday. Rumor is a float that Mr. W. T. Glenn and family will move into the residence of Mr. C. D. Chappell's in the city. Mrs. Leroy Holloway of Chappells spent several weeks with relatives not long since. Y.

Death of Paul M. Brice.

Paul McDonald Brice died at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of his father, Mr. J. A. Brice. He was cut down in the prime of his life, being only 42 years old. Paul Brice was born February 14, 1864, at this place. He was the son of James A. Brice and Josephine McDonald and received his early education at Mt. Zion Institute. After completing the course there he went to Erskine College, Due West, S. C., for four years, graduating with high honors. He then took a two-years post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. After completing his education he taught in the Laurel Street School at Columbia and afterwards in Mt. Zion Institute. He gave up school teaching and began his chosen profession with The News and Herald, then under the editorship of Mr. J. Q. Davis. After several years with The News and Herald he went to Columbia in 1888 and accepted a position with the Columbia Record and, after a successful career with them, went to Charleston in the capacity of reporter on The Charleston World. In 1891 he went to Savannah and was a reporter on the Morning News. In 1894 he returned to Columbia and was telegraph editor of The Columbia Register. In 1898, he accepted a position with the Daily Record and was afterwards promoted to editor of that paper which position he held almost until his death. Only a few days before his death he returned to his old home here to die. He had been told by his physicians that his death was a matter of only a few days. On last Tuesday morning, after exhibiting heroic courage in all his intense suffering, his "spirit passed over the river and rested in the shade of the trees."

The funeral services were held at the A. R. P. church Thursday morning in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Rev. C. E. McDonald conducted the funeral services, which were simple, and without eulogizing, as were the wishes of the deceased. The remains were laid to rest in the A. R. P. cemetery beside those of his mother.

Paul Brice was one of the many men sent out from Winnsboro who have risen high in the world, and he was not by far the least. As a newspaper man he ranked among the first in South Carolina. As a citizen he was a criterion. Pluck and honesty were the main supports in his make-up.

Many beautiful flowers were placed on his grave by those who knew him but to love him. As Mr. Louis A. Beatty of the Savannah News and an old colleague of Paul's voice the sentiments of all his friends when he said, "God will rest his soul as that of a honest man, without fear and without reproach."

The pall-bearers from Winnsboro were: Honorary, T. K. Elliott, T. H. Ketchin, A. S. Douglass, W. H. Plenniken, J. E. Williams, J. Q. Davis. Active: H. E. Ketchin, W. A. Beatty, J. S. Cathcart, W. D. Douglass, J. P. Caldwell.

The following newspaper men came up from Columbia and acted as honorary pall bearers also: Geo. R. Koester, August Kohn, A. H. Seats, John S. Reynolds, E. J. Watson.

Long Tennessee Fight.

For twenty years W. L. Rawls, of Bells, Tenn., fought nasal catarrh. He writes: "The swelling and soreness inside my nose was fearful, till I began applying Bucklen's Arnica Salve to the sore surface; this caused the soreness and swelling to disappear, never to return." Best salve in existence. 25c at Jno. H. McMaster & Co.'s, druggists.

Negro Hurt at Oil Mill.

Will Gaither, an employee of the Winnsboro Oil Mill, was seriously hurt at the mill last Thursday. It seems that Will was between two of the wheels one of which had thrown its belt. In attempting to put the belt on without stopping the machinery a set screw on the other wheel caught the coat of the unfortunate negro and began whirling him around at a rapid rate. All of his clothing with the exception of the leather wrist bands which failed to keep their traditional power of warding off harm from the wearer.

The flesh was torn off his left arm and one of his legs was broken. While the man is in a precarious condition yet it is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal.

STRAYED.

Sion's New Pastor.

When it was learned at Maning that Rev. M. J. Holladay had accepted a call to Sion church at Winnsboro, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas our pastor, Rev. J. M. Holladay, has been called to another field, which call after prayerful consideration, he has seen fit to accept; and whereas he has requested this church to unite with him in a request to Harmony Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relation: Now, therefore be it Resolved, 1. That it is with sincere regret that we feel compelled to accept this resignation and unite with our pastor in a request to Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relation.

2. That we desire to hereby express our deep appreciation for the earnest and faithful labors of our pastor for the upbuilding of our church, and the advancement of our Master's cause in this community since his connection with our church, and especially for his untiring efforts which made possible the erection of this building, its completion being a monument to his zeal and fidelity in our behalf.

3. That we pray God's richest blessing upon the work of our pastor and his family in his new field.

C. R. HARVIN, Moderator.
A. I. BARRON, Clerk.

Fortune Park Heights.

The Fairfield Land Company has been granted a charter. Its capital stock is $5,000, divided into 50 shares of $100 each. Its officers are Jno. H. McMaster, president; L. E. Owens, vice-president; J. Frank Fooshe, secretary and treasurer. As stated last week this company has bought all the land in the northern part of the town, lying between the Park and Vanderhorst street, which is to be extended. This land has been surveyed by Mr. H. H. White of Rock Hill and laid off into lots. There are 25 lots containing one half acre or more. Vanderhorst street will be extended. A street will be opened by the Park and another street will connect these two streets. This is a beautiful property and its opening will give a great impetus to the building of homes in Winnsboro. There is a large force of hands at work now opening these streets and putting the lots in good shape. The promoters of this suburban property will spend a considerable sum on the same before they put it upon the market. A big auction sale will be arranged for at an early date and the terms upon which these lots will be sold will be so easy that it will be so that any one can buy a lot.

The property will bear the name Fortune Park Heights, because of its nearness to the Park and its high location with fine drainage, which makes it a beautiful location and insures the best possible sanitation. The northern part of the town is a most desirable residence section and it is pretty certain that most of the buildings in Winnsboro for the next few years will have to be in this section. This is an opportunity to buy a lot here.

We care not how you suffered, nor what failed to cure you, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes the puniest, weakest specimen of man or womanhood strong and healthy. 35 cents. Jno. H. McMaster & Co.

The Palmetto Conference.

The Palmetto Conference of the A. M. E. Zion church was held here the past week. The conference was a most successful one and there were good reports throughout. About one hundred ministers and delegates were in attendance. Bishop J. S. Caldwell of Philadelphia, president and both in his preaching and presiding proved himself wholly worthy of his high position.

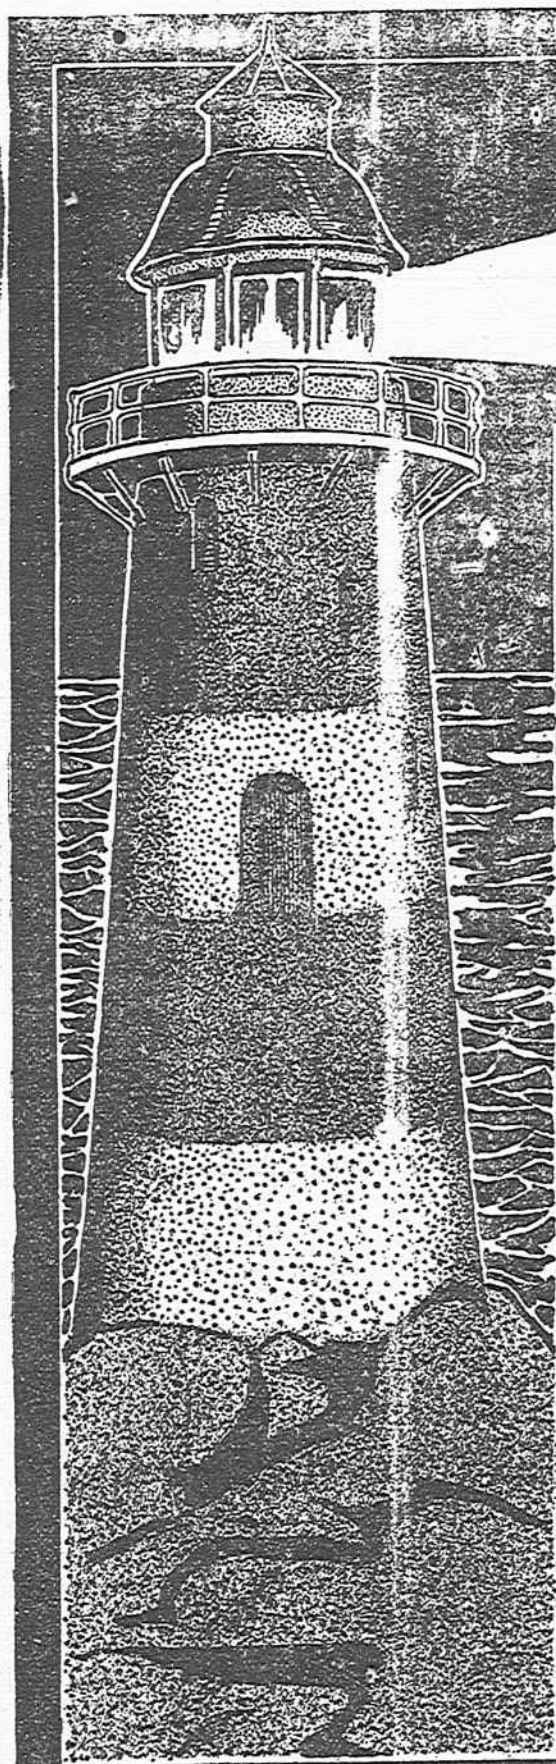

The address of welcome on the part of Mayor Ketchin was an able one and was heartily received by the large congregation present. It was most fitting and delivered in admirable spirit. The response for the white pastors was made by Rev. J. L. Freeman of the Baptist church, who bore good Christian greetings to the congregation in quite a helpful spirit.

The welcome for the colored pastors was made by Rev. J. A. Tillman, who spoke right to the point and who was most favorably received.

The response on behalf of the conference was by Prof. Crockett of Rock Hill, who for about one hour held his hearers by his thoughtful and able address. He is a strong speaker and one of the best workers for his people in South Carolina.

The appointments were read out Sunday night. Rev. W. C. McClellan goes to Union and he is succeeded by Rev. Clinton.

A GOOD WAGON is a better and more economical purchase at a fair price than a cheap wagon at any price. The Weber is good. For sale by W. M. Patrick, Woodward, S. C.
